An Annotated Index
to the Microfilm Edition of Pandita Ramabai's Papers, Publications, Pamphlets,
Mission Records and Selected Books

By James Lutzweiler

The archive of Pandita Ramabai (hereafter, PR) is located in Kedgaon, India, on the Ramabai Mukti Mission compound. It consists of one room containing eight cabinets of material, a table with material on it and a wall with several autograph letters mounted on it. By and large, the material is only partially organized, thanks for that much to the repeated annual and manual labors of Oxford University researcher Keith White. As a result, a good deal of the material has yet to be fully identified and used for scholarly purposes. The joy of discovery awaits the patient researcher into these long overlooked papers, pamphlets and publications. E.g., among the many pamphlets there are certainly rare ones on the history of evangelical Christianity in India that will be found in no other archive in the world. For research prospects in one pamphlet alone, see a fascinating essay in the October 1994 issue of the Southwestern Historical Quarterly entitled "The Little Book That Wasn't There: The Myth and Mystery of the de la Pena Diary" by Dr. James E. Crisp. The essay features an obscure pamphlet in the Yale University archives that has been used only once in the 20th century—and that quite dramatically.

Cabinets 5 and 6 contain the personal library of PR and her daughter Manoramabai, though most of the books belonged to and were selected by PR. Perhaps a dozen books have been added to the cabinets since her death in 1922; but by far, upwards of 95% of the books in these cabinets were the tools used to shape her thinking and that of the daughter who assisted her. Some books were contained in the remaining cabinets. For ease in reference purposes, most of these have been included with the books filmed in cabinets 5 and 6 that are all itemized toward the end of this index.

Following the researcher will find a BRIEF THOUGH FAR FROM EXHAUSTIVE description of the materials in each cabinet, along with a reference number indicating on which microfiche the cabinet begins. In addition, each cabinet after the first cabinet contains several shelves and each shelf may contain several rows or piles of material. Where applicable, the shelf and pile number are denoted by the actual caption that physically appears in front of some of the rows and shelves. In most instances at least one space is left blank between cabinets, shelves, rows, table, wall and books for greater ease in locating material.

INDEX: Begins on fiche #1

CABINET #1: Begins on fiche #1

1. Library cards listing books formerly and presently in PR's library (no comparison was made to see how complete this list might be. The editor assumed it was incomplete but may have contained titles no longer in Cabinets 5 and 6)
2. Archival register
3. Pamphlet on Korea
4. Register of publications printed at Mukti Mission Press from September 1904 to August 1909
5. Miscellaneous records
6. Wonderful Testimonies (inter-linear English/Hebrew text of Exodus, published by Mukti Press, August 1910)
7. 5 photographs
8. An out-of-print book, edited by A.B. Shah, containing published letters of PR is in this cabinet; however, the book was filmed as the second to last of the books on this fiche, beginning on #885.

CABINET #2: Begins on fiche #7

1. Shelf #1: Contains books, selected ones of which were filmed with Cabinets 5 and 6 beginning on fiche #405
2. Shelf #2: Contains autograph letters, typescripts of articles by and about PR, letter book of letters to PR, Ladies College Magazine for 1908, clippings, pamphlets, obits, Guide to the Cheltenham Ladies College, pics of Mukti girls, Sanskrit Ode delivered by PR at Congress of Royal Asiatic Society of Great Britain and Ireland in Berlin (September 1881), The Plagues at Poona (1897), sketch of Mary Lucia Bierce Fuller (Oberlin graduate), George W. Pentecost articles in re: PR conversion, photos, Kaiser-I-Hind award, God's Signs at Mukti, reviews of The High Caste Indian Widow

3. Shelf #3: Photos and letters
4. Shelf #4: Row #1: Letters and postcards
5. Shelf #4, Row #2: Norton Review, fragments, Fuller sketch, photostats of letters, bibliography file

9. Shelf #5, Row #3: Scrapbook of administrative letters

CABINET #3: Begin on fiche #75

Note: Cabinet #3 was the least organized of all the cabinets and there was no practical way to sort the material according to shelves and piles. The down side of this is that there is a lot of material in this cabinet waiting to be "discovered." In this cabinet are also several biographies of PR, which have been included in the book section of this fiche beginning at #405.

1. Misc. record books
2. 1904 issue of Marathi magazine entitled The Honey Bee

Selected Books from Cabinets 5 and 6
Containing the Personal Library of Pandita Ramabai
and her daughter, Manoramabai

Begins on Fiche #405

On her way back from America to India in the late 1880s, PR seems to have gone on a book-buying binge in San Francisco, very likely with the donations she had received in California from the wife of railroad magnate Charles Crocker and also William Randolph Hearst's mother –who puffed Pandita fully a half century before her son “puffed Billy Graham.” Following is a list of 249 books selected from cabinets #5 and #6 for inclusion in this microfiche. The first list is in order of their appearance in the fiche, the second list is in alphabetical order. The books were selected by the publisher, who is also the archivist and rare book curator at Southeastern Baptist Theological Seminary in Wake Forest, North Carolina. Books were selected on the basis of their subject matter and scarcity. A large number are by women authors. Themes such as Pentecostalism, holiness, revivalism, fundamentalism, abolitionism and women's movements are prominently featured, including biographies of individuals who had significant influence on PR, such as Nehemiah Goreh and Dorothea Beale. Following the list of books on the fiche, the publisher has filmed the title page and any inscription page of every book in PR's library. The number following each book below indicates the number of the fiche on which that title begins.
