Introduction

Special Collections at the Yale Divinity School Library

Special Collections at the Yale Divinity School Library include more than 3000 linear feet of archival and manuscript material, extensive archival material in microform format, and numerous individually cataloged manuscripts. Holdings include personal and organizational papers, reports, pamphlets, and ephemera related to various aspects of religious history. Particular strengths of the collection are its documentation of the Protestant missionary endeavor, its records related to American clergy and evangelists, and its documentation of religious work among college and university students. The Divinity Library collection includes personal papers of numerous faculty members and deans, and ephemeral material related to life at the Divinity School; official archives of the Divinity School are deposited in the Yale University Archives.

Parameters of this guide

This guide lists selected personal papers and organizational archives held at the library. The guide lists both material held in its original format, and microform collections of archives and personal papers held elsewhere. Detailed finding aids are available at the library and on the Internet for all of the non-microfilm collections listed here. These finding aids can be accessed through the Library’s online Guide to Manuscript and Archival Collections (http://www.library.yale.edu/div/colguide.htm) or through the Yale University Library Finding Aid Database (http://webtext.library.yale.edu). Collection level catalog records for each record group are entered in Yale’s online catalog, Orbis (http://orbis.library.yale.edu). The Finding Aid Database and Orbis should be searched to retrieve the complete holdings of the Library, since this guide excludes some of the smaller collections. Information about the location of originals of microform holdings is not included in this brief guide, but is available in the online catalog records. In addition to the holdings listed in this guide, the library also has extensive pamphlet collections relating to religious and benevolent societies, religious educational institutions, social ethics, issues of war and peace, New England churches, and the Congregational denomination.

Emphasis on missions documentation

Many of the papers and archives listed in this guide reflect the Divinity Library’s strong emphasis on documentation of Protestant mission activity. The extensive holdings of printed works in the Day Missions Library are complemented by the personal papers of more than 300 missionaries and archives of numerous mission sending agencies. Nearly half of the manuscript and archival holdings of the Divinity Library document the missionary enterprise in China. This reflects the impact of the China Records Project, which was begun in 1968 by the National Council of Churches of Christ in the U.S.A. and became part of the Divinity Library in 1972. The Wade-Giles system of romanization for Chinese place names that was in use during the Protestant missionary era has been retained in the Library’s finding aids.

Access to the collections

All qualified researchers are welcome to use the archival and manuscript holdings of the Yale Divinity Library. Many of the microfilm collections listed in this guide are available through Interlibrary Loan. Guide entries followed by an asterisk (*) indicate that the material has been microfilmed in the China Through Western Eyes microfilm project. More detailed information can be obtained by writing to the library at 409 Prospect Street, New Haven, Connecticut 06511 or via email to the Curator of Special Collections, Martha.Smalley@Yale.edu.
