GINLING COLLEGE LIBRARY

Annual Report

1947-48

STATEMENT OF THE BOOK COLLECTION:

A total of 3620 Chinese books were added during the year by purchase only; 1894 foreign books were added, 80% of which were purchased. These additions make a total of 19,228 Chinese books, 18,505 foreign books and a complete total of 37,733 volumes.

It will be necessary to deduct from foreign gifts many titles which are not useful for Chinese students. It is suggested that a high degree of selectivity be practised in the acquisition of foreign gifts as well as the purchase of foreign books with quality rather than quantity the objective. In any case, the amount of shelf space available does not allow any title which is not of high quality or of positive value to the teaching curriculum, Chinese or foreign.

A total of 71 subscriptions to Chinese periodicals was maintained, 44 of which were gifts; 59 subscriptions to foreign periodicals were maintained, 23 of which were gifts. At present the completion of back files and the binding of them is more important than increasing the number of subscriptions. For the purpose of economy and the availability of a greater number of the more expensive periodicals, close cooperation should be maintained with the University of Nanking in order to avoid duplication. More periodical indexes are needed to make material quickly available in the periodicals of special scope i.e. Industrial Arts Index, Art Index, etc.

USE OF THE BOOK COLLECTION:

A total of 4000 Chinese books were circulated, 1500 to faculty, 2500 to students; 3000 foreign books were circulated, 2000 to faculty, 1000 to students; 1865 reserved books were circulated, 1225 foreign and 640 Chinese.

PREPARATION PROCESSES:

Time has not permitted the restoration of the former card catalog. The present catalog contains incomplete files for the author or main entry and complete files for titles and shelf list. There are not any subject cards. The shelf list, which is a file of cards for each title arranged by classification number, as the books stand on the shelves, is therefore the only subject approach to the book collection but difficult for students or faculty to use for that purpose when seeking to locate a particular title or subject. A complete new dictionary catalog for foreign books is desirable but will require a long period for completion unless printed catalog cards can be purchased or additional cataloging staff employed. At the present rate of acquisition, it will perhaps be possible for the present staff to catalog completely but in simple form all current acquisitions of foreign books but even for these printed cards are preferable and actually economical in terms of time and staff saved and the great amount of bibliographical detail and expert cataloging available on Library of Congress printed cards. Such a catalog of foreign books should be an objective in attaining maximum library facilities for Ginling College. In the meantime, however, as complete cataloging as possible will be given current acquisitions of foreign titles, including subject headings and plans are also being made to add subject headings to the catalog of Chinese books.

Provision should be made regularly in the library budget for the rebinding of worn titles as well as the binding of periodicals. The cost of rebinding is ordinarily much less than the total replacement of a worn copy. There are now present on the shelves a number of books which need rebinding and minor repair. A stock of mending supplies should be kept on hand for making minor repairs before more serious deterioration occurs.

PERSONNEL:

During the period of this report two staff replacements were made which increased the general educational qualifications of the staff. It now consists of two trained members, four clerical staff and one caretaker. Of the clerical staff there is one middle school graduate, one with two years of college completed, one college graduate and one with a Master's Degree. Such qualifications are will in keeping with the minimum educational standards generally acceptable for library personnel. The size of the staff, which includes ten student assistants, is adequate for present demands. No attempt has been made at this time to evaluate the salary earnings of the staff. However, this is a responsibility of the librarian and in the future such report will be made and recommendations for adjustment.

FINANCE:

In the future it is hoped that a total cost of library operation may be calculated for the fiscal year and records will be set up in the library to account for expenditures. Such records will be checked periodically with the Treasurer so that they may balance with his records at all times. Because of the change in currency during the period of this report, it is not possible to determine the total library expenditure in one figure. However, it would be noted that approximately $88,448,250 CN were spent for Chinese books and $2000 US for foreign books; CN $52,503,200 for Chinese periodicals and US $650 for foreign periodicals.

It is important that the total operating expense of the library be known and that a library budget be allotted which is a distinct item in the total college expenditure. It is also important that from the total library budget, amounts be assigned to each department for the purchase of books only and this amount should cover purchase of Chinese books as well.

BUILDING AND EQUIPMENT:

There is already a need for additional shelving and space for shelving and an even more urgent need for adequate staff working space. For the present, greater use will be made of the attic space for these purposes. However, it is necessary to keep in mind that plans for future increase of library space should soon be considered so that the normal expansion of the library may occur without the crowding of shelves. Attention must be given to improving the lighting of the card catalog, the charging desk and the balcony.

Equipment most urgently needed at present is an eight or ten drawer catalog cabinet to contain the shelf list which is needed in the library office and to release space in the general catalog. The general catalog for both foreign and Chinese books will expand rapidly with the addition of subject cards for each title. A standard size, latest model typewriter is also urgently needed for the proper typing of catalog cards and should be of small, elite type such as here used.

ADMINISTRATIVE PROBLEMS:

It is recommended that the library staff be given greater control of the ordering of books so that at all times the number of books ordered and source of orders be known. This may be accomplished by sending to the library office an order card for each title duly signed by the department head. The librarian would then be responsible for placing the order on proper requisition form and forwarding it directly to the Treasurer. This procedure will relieve the Controller of ordering detail which is properly the function of the library staff. By systematic and periodic checking, order and receipt of books will be expedited.

OBJECTIVES:

The damage and loss of both books and equipment through the war years has obviously been a mammoth problem for Ginling College and one among many other problems. The library staff under the direction of Miss Liu Hua Chin has gone far toward the restoration of the library facilities. No one can better realize the magnitude of the job to be done and the tremendous amount of work accomplished than another librarian and no one can better appreciate the spirit of the staff which has made this accomplishment possible. A good foundation has not only been laid for complete restoration of the library but also that for making it a dependable, up-to-date tool for students and faculty which is, indeed, the objective of any library staff aware of its responsibility.

Respectfully submitted,

Mary C. Watson, Librarian
