Publication of Manuscript Material

In many cases, the Divinity Library does not hold the copyright to materials in its collections and so cannot grant or deny permission to publish them, nor can the Library assume responsibility for determining their copyright status. Regardless of the legal copyright status, the Divinity Library would like to receive notice of the publication of its materials via this form. If we clearly hold copyright of the materials in question, this will be indicated below and the form will be signed by a Library representative to grant permission for publication. Otherwise this form simply serves as notification.

Name (please print) _____ Date _____

Address _____

Email: _____

Material to be published: (Identify the collection or collections and describe the material, using a separate sheet as necessary.)

Bibliographical information on planned publication:

Divinity Library collections should be cited as "Special Collections, Yale Divinity School Library. [name of specific collection]". It is very useful for future researchers if you also cite the Box and Folder numbers.

Permission to publish

____ The Yale Divinity School Library holds copyright of the material described above and hereby authorizes you to publish it. In authorizing the publication of this material, Yale University does not surrender its own right to publish it, or to grant permission to others to do so. Nor does this authorization by Yale University remove the author's and publisher's responsibility to guard against the infringement of rights that may be held by others.
